

A free press operates on behalf of the citizens. They are not an arm of government, not military adjuncts, and not cheerleaders for one political party. Enough!

I object to the cross-ownership proposal. It is becoming ever more difficult to find good community and national reportage. It is frightening even when I agree with the majority of Americans on an issue and with the way an issue is presented in the media because I know there is more going on. The next time a plane sails into one of our buildings it won't be because "they hate our freedoms", will it.

Sincerely,
